AN ESCAPE FROM THE CITY, IN THE CITY

Dublin is made up of distinct neighbourhoods, each with their own character and style. There are reasons to visit every corner of the city and Dublin’s Docklands area is no exception.

Make time to wander off the beaten path to discover a neighbourhood where past, present and future effortlessly collide. Grab a drink at the rooftop bar in The Marker Hotel, listen to the stories of iconic music legends at Windmill Lane Studios or find out why saying “I’m Irish” is one of the biggest conversation starters at the award-winning EPIC The Irish Emigration Museum. And if watersports is your thing, then this ‘water quarter’ is for you, with everything from boating trips and kayaking to SUPing and wakeboarding.

Come and see why Dublin’s Docklands is one of the most talked about neighbourhoods in town.
